TIRES HAD TO BE IMPROVED, TOO...

So We Built

GATEWAY 4-Ply

REINFORCED ZEPHYR

ESPECIALLY FOR MODERN CARS

It's a far cry from the first clumsy, slow-moving horseless carriage of the gay nineties to the powerful, streamlined automobiles of today.

These old timers with their big high wheels were never called upon to meet the terrific strain of present day traffic. Wide open, they probably did 10 or 15 miles per hour. Wheels revolved more slowly. Loads were not as heavy. Consequently, tires did not have the power to perform that they have today.

The newer, modern car, on the other hand, in order to meet the need of present day high-speed driving, is built closer to the ground. The popular 16 and 17 inch wheels, now in use, turn over at a terrific pace. Tires hit the ground more often and take more punishment than ever before.

With all this extra wear and tear on tires, with the terrific strain of faster starting and quicker stopping, something had to be done. A new type of tire, built especially for the modern high speeds, had to be designed. So—

PRAISES CARAVANS

Mr. Clarence A. Strand of Superior, Wisconsin, one of the winners in the CARAVAN Truck Tire contest, says of his CARAVAN tire, " . . . I have driven on sharp crushed rocks, gravel, mud and concrete—my tire is still in good running shape . . . looks like I'll never have to replace it."
